

WITHDRAWAL AND REFUND POLICY

DOMINION MARKETS

1. INTRODUCTION

This Withdrawal and Refund Policy ("Policy") sets out the procedures and conditions governing withdrawals and refunds from client trading accounts maintained with Dominion Markets Ltd ("Dominion Markets", "Company", "we", "us", or "our").

This Policy forms an integral part of the Client Agreement and should be read together with the Company's Website Terms & Conditions, AML/CFT Policy, Risk Disclosure and Warning Notice, Privacy Policy, Complaint Handling Policy and Procedure, and Card Funding Disclaimer & Policy.

The Company reserves the right to amend this Policy at any time to reflect regulatory requirements, operational changes, or risk management considerations. Any amendments shall become effective upon publication on the Company's website.

2. GENERAL PRINCIPLES

Dominion Markets is committed to processing withdrawal and refund requests in a fair, secure, and efficient manner while complying with applicable Anti-Money Laundering (AML), Counter-Terrorist Financing (CFT), sanctions, fraud prevention, and payment processing requirements.

All withdrawals are subject to:

- Successful completion of client identification and verification procedures;
- Completion of all required KYC and due diligence requirements;
- Internal compliance and risk review;
- Verification of ownership of the payment method;
- Compliance with applicable laws and regulations;
- Absence of any suspected fraudulent, suspicious, or unlawful activity.

3. RETURN TO ORIGINAL SOURCE OF FUNDS

To prevent money laundering, fraud, and unauthorized transactions, the Company will generally return funds to the same payment method used for the original deposit wherever reasonably practicable.

Accordingly:

3.1 Card Deposits

Where deposits were made using a credit card, debit card, prepaid card, or other accepted card payment method, withdrawals and refunds may be processed back to the same card or original payment source up to the total amount deposited using that card, subject to payment processor limitations, card scheme rules, AML/CFT requirements, and the Company's Card Funding Disclaimer & Policy.

3.2 Bank Wire Deposits

Funds deposited via bank transfer will generally be returned to a bank account held in the client's own name.

3.3 Alternative Payment Methods

Where deposits were made through approved electronic payment methods, the Company may require withdrawals to be processed through the same payment channel, subject to operational and regulatory requirements.

3.4 Trading Profits

Any profits generated from trading activities may be paid through an approved withdrawal method in the client's own name, subject to compliance review and verification requirements.

4. OWN-NAME PAYMENTS AND THIRD-PARTY PAYMENT CONTROLS

The Company generally requires deposits and withdrawals to be made using payment methods held in the Client's own name. Withdrawals will normally be processed only to the verified account holder and to a payment method or bank account registered in the Client's own name.

Third-party withdrawals are prohibited and will not be processed to anonymous accounts, unrelated third parties, unverified beneficiaries, or payment methods that cannot be adequately verified.

Third-party deposits are not accepted automatically and may only be considered in exceptional circumstances, including approved third-party card funding, subject to enhanced due diligence, verification of the actual payer or cardholder, relationship confirmation, source of funds review, consent documentation where required, and Compliance approval.

Where funds were received from an approved third-party payment method, the Company may return funds to the original payment source, payment card, or cardholder where required by applicable laws, card scheme rules, payment processor requirements, AML/CFT obligations, sanctions controls, fraud prevention requirements, or the Company's internal controls.

The Company reserves the right to reject, delay, reverse, refund, suspend, hold, or investigate any deposit, withdrawal, or refund request involving a third party where verification is incomplete, the relationship or source of funds cannot be satisfactorily established, or any AML/CFT, sanctions, fraud, chargeback, regulatory, legal, or reputational concern arises.

5. CLIENT VERIFICATION REQUIREMENTS

Before processing a withdrawal, the Company may require the client to provide additional documentation, including but not limited to:

- Valid government-issued identification document;
- Recent proof of residential address;
- Proof of payment method ownership;

- Bank statement;

Any applicable fees shall be disclosed on the Company's website, Client Portal, or within the Client Agreement.

Intermediary bank charges imposed by third parties are outside the Company's control and remain the responsibility of the client.

10. REFUNDS

Refunds may be processed where:

- A deposit was made in error;
- Duplicate payments were received;
- The Company determines that a refund is appropriate;
- Applicable law or regulatory obligations require a refund.

The Company may require supporting evidence before approving a refund request.

Refunds will generally be made using the original payment method used to fund the account, where feasible.

- Conduct enhanced due diligence;
- Restrict access to funds where required by law;
- Return funds only after satisfactory completion of all reviews.

12. RIGHT TO REFUSE OR CANCEL A WITHDRAWAL

- The request breaches the Client Agreement;

Such records will be retained for at least ten (10) years following the termination of the business relationship or completion of the relevant transaction, or for such longer period as may be required under applicable laws, regulations, regulatory instructions, legal proceedings, or internal policies.

16. POLICY AMENDMENTS

The Company may amend, update, or replace this Policy at any time without prior notice where required by law, regulation, operational necessity, or risk management considerations.

The latest version of this Policy shall be made available on the Company's website and shall become effective immediately upon publication.
